

When we finalized our decision to move to a new facility to accommodate our growth, we needed an electrical contractor that could meet our various needs. We were happy that Garden Electric was skilled with everything from basic office wiring needs, to our manufacturing plant requirements. As the project continued, we identified new needs and Garden Electric quickly and efficiently incorporated those changes into their workflow. We didn't give them a lot of time, and they performed well under pressure. Equally as important, Garden Electric was there to support us through our startup. I'm convinced there isn't a project Garden Electric can't handle.
